There are loads more websites with fun ideas for you to keep busy over summer too.

School activities.

- Keep a diary. It's always lovely to share a diary of the things you've been up to with your new teacher when you return to school. You don't have to write it every day but perhaps if you have a particularly exciting day, you could write about what you did and draw some pictured to accompany your work.
- Transition book. Look on the website for the 'All about me' transition booklet. This will help you get ready for your new class by thinking about your special qualities. You can share this with your new teacher in September.
- Try the 20 minute boredom busters from the website.
- Reading. Keep reading over the summer. What genres will you choose to read? Do you have a favourite author or series of books?
- Times tables. Work on your timetables regularly. You don't have to do hours of work but quick bursts regularly will really help you learn them off by heart. You need to know all the facts up to 12 x 12 and the division facts that match.
- Spelling. On the website are the spellings for Year 3 and 4. See how many of these you can learn.
